DISCUSSION ITEMS:

NightHawk Radiology Services

Mr. Ormond explained that DOPL had received a letter from NightHawk Radiology Services. They questioned if a Radiology Technologist license is required to convert an X-Ray into a 3D image, for hospital use.

After an extensive conversation it was determine that DOPL would send a letter to NightHawk Radiology Services, which states that if an individual is practicing as a Radiology Technologist they must be licensed to perform this service. However, if this service is not defined as practicing as a Radiology Technologist they need not be licensed with this Division.

Radiology Questions

Ms. Ellis reviewed a letter, from Julie Felice of Intermountain Health Care. Questioning what level of licensure is required for the use of a Gamma Knife.

Ms. Wood explained that since Utah does not separate Radiology Technologist, Nuclear Medicine Technologists, or Radiation Therapy Technologists. The person would need to be at minimum a Radiology Technologist who has passed the ARRT (American Association of Radiologic Technologists) Radiation Therapy Technology exam. The remainder of the Board agreed. Mr. Ormond will contact the Attorney Generals office to insure that this is an appropriate decision. He then will contact Ms. Felice with the decision.
